In-Game Steps

1. Launch Fortnite: and select your Player Profile icon.
2. Navigate to the Social tab: to view your friends and recent players.
3. Find the player: you want to block. You can do this by:
 - Selecting them from your Friends list.
 - Finding them in your Recent players list.
 - Searching for their Epic Games display name in the "Search or add players" field.
4. Select "More Options": from the player's profile.
5. Click on the "Block" button: to initiate the block.
6. Confirm your choice: by selecting the "Block" button again.

What Happens After You Block a Player

- You will be unfriended by the player.
- You will not see their online presence, and they will not see yours.
- They will be unable to send you messages or comments.
- You can view and manage your blocked players in a dedicated list within the Friends list menu.

From a User's Profile Page

1. Go to the user's profile:

You can do this by searching for their name in the search bar or finding them on your friends list.

2. Locate the three dots:

On the user's profile, find the three dots icon, usually in the upper right or near their name.

3. Select "Block User":

Click the three dots to open the menu and then select "Block User".

4. Confirm your choice:

A pop-up will ask you to confirm. Click "Block" again to complete the process.

From a Game's Leaderboard

1. Open the leaderboard: While in a game, find the player list, often labelled as the "leaderboard" in the upper-right corner.

2. Find the user: Locate the user you want to block within the list.

3. Click "Block": Click on their name, which will open a menu. From this menu, select "Block".

What Blocking Does

- Prevents the user from sending you friend requests and private messages.
- Stops them from seeing your chat messages in-experience.
- Stops them from using the "join" feature on your profile.
- Prevents them from sending ally requests or trade requests.
- The person you block will not receive a notification that you have blocked them.
